School Committeemen To Become "Experts"

School Chairman Louis Galbiati gave members of his committee carte blanche Tuesday to look into educational matters, preparing themselves to function as advisors in given areas of responsibility. The five committee "experts" will not only collect background information preparatory to discussion of and action on administration proposals, but they will work through the superintendent and his staff to develop suggestions for change.

The members will concern themselves with these specific areas:

Virginia H. Cole - Languages, special classes, team teaching, extra-curricular activities (except athletics and music) and transportation.

William A. Doherty - Building and grounds, liaison with the non-professional staff and maintenance.

Frederick Fitzgerald - curriculum planning and development, athletics and college preparatory program, health program.

Dr. Galbiati - Liaison with the Andover Teachers' Assn., assistance to the superintendent in state and governmental matters, liaison with the selectmen and the guidance program.

Robert Sherman - Vocational and business curriculum, music programs, cafeterias and lunch programs and science.

In the discussion of just how much freedom committee members are to have in going into schools, talking with teachers and department heads etc., former chairman Robert Sherman questioned whether the plan was in keeping with the feeling of some members of the committee that the committee should make its approaches to the staff through the superintendent. "I agree with the aims (of the plan), but I am not sure I agree with the method," he said.

The chairman said it was his intention that each committeeman should work with the superintendent, discuss his findings, ask questions and even sound out official reaction to any suggestions he may develop for improvements in the system.

All agreed to give the proposal a try and review the results at a future date.

Water Ban Stays For The Present

Tax Work Will Begin

Work on the tax equalization survey authorized by Town Meeting earlier this month will get underway as soon as the contract is executed, Manager Richard Bowen reports.

Bids for the review were solicited from five reputable concerns by the Board of Assessors last October. They were received in February and the low bid was used as the basis for the Town Meeting request for $40,000.

The work will be done by Whipple, Magane & Darcy of Andover who quoted a price of $38,500 for the updating of tax records.

Visual studies of all property will be made, but the survey will in no way be as intensive as that made prior to the massive revaluation program of some eight years ago. It will not, for the most part, involve interviews with property owners.

The main purpose of the revaluation survey is to bring tax records up to date, particularly on land valuations. Recent transfers have shown that some tax valuations are out of line with current fair value sales data.

Board Clears School Plans

The School Committee has given the nod to a summer school program for elementary pupils that will include both enrichment and academic classes.

Given its choice of three schedules, the committee (3-2) favored one which will run from July 5 through August 12.

An Audubon and Art program will be offered to the various age groups on a two week basis. Youngsters from grades three and four and five and six will be eligible to attend from July 5 through July 15; Grades one and two and three and four, from July 18 through July 29; and grades one and two and five and six, from August 1

Art Lecture For Students

William J. Igoe, acting-chairman of the public school enrichment program announces that Bartlett H. Hayes Jr., director of the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, will give a lecture slide presentation on art at the high school auditorium Saturday, April 2, at 11:15 a.m.

Director Hayes is a well known lecturer and author; some of his publications include "The American Line - 100 Years of Drawing", "The Naked Truth and Personal Vision"; co-author of "Layman's Guide to Modern Art". He has also written various magazine articles and two television series entitled "Intent of Art" and "Layman's Guide to Modern Art".

All interested students in the town of Andover are invited to attend. There is no charge for admission.

To eliminate the confusion created by published misconceptions about Andover's water future, Manager Richard J. Bowen and Water Supt. Donald C. Bassett released a joint statement to the TOWNSMAN Tuesday.

In short, the facts are these.

1. The Fish Brook dam, pumps and transmission lines will be ready within a week to 10 days to begin the trapping and transfer of spring runoff to the Haggett's Pond reservoir. This is a conservation prediction, one which allows for unforeseen delays.

2. Completion of the Fish Brook project will NOT mean an automatic lifting of the water use restrictions, in effect since last summer.

Bowen and Bassett report that Haggett's Pond is now at a level about four feet under its peak. For this reason, says the manager, "It is premature to talk about the removal of water restrictions."

Further prompting the officials to move with caution are recent statements from the head of the state department of water resources predicting that the long-term New England drought, now heading into its fifth season, will continue.

Supt. Bassett estimates that the water level at Haggett's will go up another 2 ft. without any help from Fish Brook. He expects the brook to supply the some 150 million gallons it will take to raise the pond the other 2 ft.

Commenting on the possibility for elimination of water restrictions, Manager Bowen said, "We don't want them on any longer than they have to be... Within about a month we will know where we stand."

Both the manager and Bassett point out that the public was never promised that the transmission of Fish Brook water to Haggett's would necessarily mean the elimination of restrictions on the use of water for lawn watering, car washing and the filling of swimming pools.

In fact, says Bassett, it was stated very clearly at the special town meeting called for consideration of the quarter-of-a-million dollar project that no guarantees

Water Rates Are Advanced

Water bills now in preparation will reflect the new rates, Water Supt. Donald C. Bassett said this week.

The new rate for the 2,000 cu. ft. minimum is $7. as opposed to the previous $6.

The rate for the next 20,000 cu. ft. is being computed at the rate of 30 cents per cu. ft. The old rate was 23 cents per cu. ft.

Users of 22,000 gallons and more will pay at the rate of 22 cents per 100 cu. ft.

Town Manager Richard Bowen announced at a special town meeting last year that the rates would be increased in an effort to put the water operation on a self-sustaining basis.

PAY-OFF

Tomorrow is P-Day for the Andover Cooperative. For tomorrow is the day of the Annual CO-OP Pay-Off — the day when our patrons and our shareholders will receive almost $65,000.00 in real CO-OP CASH.

To our patrons we are mailing $60,968. as a cash refund on their 1965 purchases. Where did all this money come from? From our patrons, of course. That's the unique thing about a consumers' cooperative: the net surplus goes back to the people who made it possible. We treat them as if they owned the store — which they actually do. Anything wrong with that?

Our shoppers usually wear two hats. As shareholders, they collect our usual 5% dividend on stock, amounting to $3,933.

That's the double pay off for 1965.

And for 1966 we have a word of advice: the best time to get on the CO-OP bandwagon for the next payoff is right now, while the year is yet young. A cooperative is a store of mutuality of consumer benefits.

Pollution Is Labeled Disaster by Default

That the spring sun has melted the ice on pond and stream, consider what the winter concealed. New clues appear in a recent "Disaster by Default." The "Disaster by Default" is water pollution and "default" rests on political failure to act. It's a volume that you want to wash your hands not in water. In it, U. S. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut is quoted as saying:

"Shocks and revolts me to that where the Connecticut crosses the state line from Massachusetts, the water is so that a single drop has a bacteria count 315 times greater the bacteriological standard by Connecticut in approving sites on the river."

The condition of the Connecticut when it hits the sea might be the good senator even more. There are few rivers in New England that are more than main sewers, picking up domestic commercial sewage from their shores to their mouth.

Author Frank Graham Jr., sums up the situation in "Disaster by Default" as:

"The wastes of a growing nation have been added the wastes of the world's greatest industrial and agricultural power; our waterways are overflooded by offal, pesticides, acid drainage, wood fibers, despoiled wastes, and a torrent of chemicals which are not only destructive in themselves but combine in water to form a new and more deadly poison."

Pure's Ways

Pollution Is Labeled
Disaster by Default"

Now that the spring sun has melted the ice on pond and stream, we consider what the winter has concealed.

A few clues appear in a recent "Disaster by Default." The "disaster" is water pollution and "default" rests on political failure to act. It's a volume that you want to wash your hands in, not in water. In it, U. S. Representative Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut is quoted as saying:

"The shocks and revolts me to that where the Connecticut crosses the state line from Massachusetts, the water is so that a single drop has a bacteria count 315 times greater than the bacteriological standard by Connecticut in approving sites on the river."

The condition of the Connecticut when it hits the sea might be the good senator even more. There are few rivers in New England that are more than main sewers, picking up domestic commercial sewage from their banks to their mouth.

Author Frank Graham Jr., sums up the situation in "Disaster by Default" as:

"To the wastes of a growing population have been added the wastes of the world's greatest industrial and agricultural power; our waterways are overburdened by offal, pesticides, acid drainage, wood fibers, decay wastes, and a torrent of chemicals which are not only destructive in themselves but combine in water to form new chemicals whose effects on human beings are not even known." The fact is that our rivers are more than a national disgrace. They are, indeed, cesspools of pestilence. Any public health official who points to the fact that epidemics from this pestilence have been rare is boasting more of the profession's luck than its wisdom.

Modern public health measures against polluted water date back to 1854 when Dr. John Snow halted a cholera epidemic in London by removing the handle from the Broad Street public water pump, thus ending the supply of contaminated water. It is but a slight exaggeration to state that most of the progress made since consists of improving the filter now added to the pump.

Richard Cronin of the State Division of Fisheries and Game has a division-produced movie which shows a western Massachusetts stream that runs so thick with sludge that tossing a stone into it produces a ploppy splash that might be duplicated by dropping a hard-boiled egg into a kettle of boiling oatmeal.

Naturalists, waterfowl hunters and fishermen have complained bitterly about pollution for years. Somehow the public generally has viewed these complaints as unjustified grouching about a purely aesthetic matter. Which has caused Allen Morgan of the Massachusetts Audubon Society to comment upon "the oddness of having to defend aesthetics, since possession of an aesthetic sense is the primary evidence separating man from lower animals."

If the massive destruction of wildlife that pollution causes seems insufficient evidence that pestilence lurks in our streams, it is time that the public does a little serious - and possibly alarmed - thinking about what kind of evidence it will take to convince authorities that a problem exists. - Wayne Hanley, Audubon Society.

Some people spend so much time looking out for number one they get narrow-minded and near-sighted.

Commuter Accident Takes Life Of Two

Vincent F. Moran, 181 High St., was one of two men killed March 25 in an early morning accident near the Haggett's Pond pumping station on Route 133.

The 59 year old printer was dead on arrival at Lawrence General Hospital. It was determined this week that the probable cause of Moran's death, and the two-car accident, was a coronary thrombosis. The victim had a history of heart difficulties.

Also dead was Lt. Col. (Ret.) Joseph P. Hayes, 60, of 246 Crawford St., Lowell. The colonel was on vacation from A. C. Lawrence

Co., Peabody, where he was personnel manager and on a two-week military reserve assignment.

Still in the intensive care ward at the hospital Wednesday was Barbara Sheehy, 21, of Phillips Court, North Andover, a passenger in the Moran car. At last report, police had been unable to question the young woman.

Mr. Moran and Miss Sheehy were enroute to their work at the Lowell Courier-Citizen commercial printing plant when the accident occurred, at about 7:43 a.m. Their vehicle swerved across the road, making contact head-on with Hayes' car. The two automobiles were "meshed together" when police and fire rescue units arrived.

The son of the late Joseph F. and Mary (Parent) Moran of Lawrence, Moran was a Navy veteran of World War II. He was a member of the Lowell Typographical Union. He is survived by his wife, the former Dorothy Porter; three sisters, Sister Marie St. Vincent of the Convent of Notre Dame, Danvers, Mrs. George (Marguerite) Pelletier of Andover and Mrs. Henry (Edna) Drouin of Lawrence.

His funeral was held Monday from John Breen Memorial Funeral Home Inc., Lawrence, with a high Mass of requiem at St. Augustine's Church. Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

could be made since the spring flow of the brook could not be projected that far in advance.

Despite the fact there has already been some loss of runoff into the Merrimack River, it is now believed that the brook can develop enough water to fill Haggett's. Even in a good water year, Fish Brook normally runs dry mid-summer.

Speaking generally, the "yield" prediction for the brook one million gallons per day a year, or 365 million gallons annually. There are times when brook empties as many as 10 million gallons a day into the Merrimack and pumping equipment installed there is capable of handling this daily maximum. In other words, to paraphrase a manager, if there was that kind of water available and if Haggett's Pond could hold it, we could pump as much as 10 million gallons a day from Fish Brook.

In discussing the uncertainty of the water situation, Mayor Bowen added that the increased consumer demand is compounded by Andover's problem. He said that is increasing here at the rate of 100,000 gallons per day per year.

HS Student Critical

Kathleen Levi, 17, an Andover High School junior, lay in the intensive care ward at Lawrence General Hospital Wednesday where she was taken following a brain hemorrhage which occurred during a pool hours Tuesday.

The student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Levi, 3 Memorial Cir.

Principal Philip Wormwood said Wednesday that Miss Levi had just returned to the girls' locker room following a gym class when she was stricken. From the best summation of what students observed, a girl leapt into the air like a ballerina, she suddenly seemed to be struck and sat down on the floor, according to their report to the principal. From here she slumped faint.

The initial impression of some who she had struck her head was that she had fainted. When doctors could find no signs of any external injury, there also seemed to be no connection between her condition and the gym class she had just attended. Principal Wormwood said there was no active sport participation in that particular class.

Supt. Edward L. Erickson reported the incident to the School Committee at its Tuesday night meeting. It had already been determined that there had been "no negligence" on the part of the school, he said.

Jamboree Arranged

The second annual Andover-Groton Andover Girl Scout Spring Jamboree will be held May 13, 14 and 15 at Camp Maude Eaton, with the "Diamond Jubilee Playday" scheduled for May 14.

Initial plans for the popular event were made at a recent meeting of a service team of the Andover-Groton Andover Neighborhood Association, held at the home of Mrs. John Holmes, 25 Strawberry Hill.

Team members are Mrs. Kenneth Godin, Mrs. Fred Tarbox, Mrs. Francis Diodati, Mrs. Donald Waser and Mrs. Warren Oldaker. Merrimack River Girl Scout Council field director, Mrs. Richard Robbins, assisted at the planning session.

By Association Member Vale Citizens Berated

A member of the Ballardvale Community Assn. released to the press this week an open letter to the residents of the Vale, berating them for their lip service to the idea of a lively community organization.

The letter, signed by B. S. Taylor, 3 Marland St., referred to the financial help given by the town government for refurbishing of the library-center building in Ballardvale and to the promises interested citizens made in exchange for the aid.

Now, says Taylor, it appears that the people of Ballardvale are disinterested in the project.

This public apathy was responsible earlier in the month for the resignation of the struggling group's president, Richard H. St. Amant.

Meanwhile, active members of the organization, including Mr.

Taylor have begun redecoration of the meeting hall and kitchen at the center under direction of James Butler, vice president, Taylor who is secretary, and Theodore Acosta, treasurer.

The ceiling and walls will be painted Saturday, April 2. Woodwork will be painted the following week and members expect to refinish the floor in time for a combined business-and-pleasure meeting April 12.

In his letter, Taylor urges Ballardvale residents to attend these upcoming meetings, to meet their neighbors and work toward improvement of the Ballardvale district of Andover.

"The Town of Andover allocated $5,000 for improvements upon the existing community building, which houses the Ballardvale Library. The Town of Andover asked in return that the residents of Ballardvale form an association to utilize the building and community room.

"Originally the Town considered selling the Community Building. A delegation of interested residents went to the Board of Selectmen and the town manager to see if the building could be saved for the community if we, as interested community members, utilized the building and helped to improve it. The town officials agreed, and we were given $5,000 for repairs. The allocation of $5,000 was a help that very few sections of our town have ever received for such a project. Verbally, people of this community were very pleased. However, an overwhelming lack of enthusiasm has been shown by the residents of Ballardvale when it has come to time and effort to make our community center and association materialize. What sort of spirit is this? Are we an all take and no give community?"

"The association has been formed with monthly meetings. We have 86 members. We are lucky to have an attendance of 15 members at our meetings. Is this a true representation of our community? Are you really content to sit back and do nothing to improve Ballardvale? Unless you continually show a strong interest in our community building we are most apt to lose it and the library with it.

English Crew Will Visit Phillips Campus In April

The Phillips Academy crew will welcome Wednesday the crew from the Shrewsbury School in Shropshire, England which has raised money for a two week's visit to Andover and New England.

While here, the fourteen boys and their coaches, Roger Blomfield and John Dent, will participate in practice sessions on the Merrimack River as well as rowing in scheduled PA meets against MIT, freshmen on April 13, Kent School on April 16, and the BU freshmen on the 20th.

Andover's varsity coach, William H. Brown, is busy making arrangements which should give the English boys a thorough look at an American boarding school. Each member of the Shrewsbury crew has been paired with an Andover crew member who will host his English guest to classes, Commons for meals, and to a variety of other school activities. Some of the boys will stay with Mr. and Mrs. James R. Adriance; others will sleep at Cooley House.

Although the English boys plan to spend most of their time in Andover, they will also make treks to historical spots in Concord and Boston, bringing no doubt, a different point of view to such places as the famous bridge and Bunker Hill.

Excursions to Brooks, St. Paul's and Exeter for informal races are also on the master schedule. After rowing against the Harvard Freshmen, the English boys can count on a quick tour of Cambridge and the Yard. To complete an already full two weeks, the boys will be guests at the Groton School for several days.

The idea for this visit was sparked by John Dent, English instructor and one of the Shrewsbury coaches. Last year Dent spent several months on the Andover campus investigating the possilities of adapting some of the Academy's audio-visual techniques to the English school. His continuing interest in Andover and its crew prompted the organization of the trip which is taking place during Shrewsbury's spring recess.

For the Andover crew the visit from the English boys will revive the excitement of last summer's Henley Royal Regatta when they rowed in the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup against English and American competitors, among them the Shrewsbury crew. The Andover team lost the cup in a close final race against Tabor Academy.

Hit Musical Is Rehearsed

The Senior Class at Andover High School is presently rehearsing for its presentation of Cole Porter's hit Musical "Kiss Me, Kate," on May 6 and 7 in the high school auditorium.

Favorite tunes such as "So In Love," "Wunderbar," "Why Can't You Behave," and the comedy number "Brush Up Your Shakespeare," are a part of this popular musical. The show opens with the rousing rendition of the song that has become a classic in American show business — "Another Op'ning, Another Show." The play within a play technique of this presentation gives the staging and costuming staffs an opportunity to portray both modern and Elizabethan settings.

Cole Porter's hit opened on Dec. 30, 1948, and is one of the few musical comedies to play more than a thousand performances on Broadway. At Andover High, the musical is under the direction of John Boyle of the English department.

STANDARD CLIPPINGS BAG. TORO pioneered grass and leaf bagging attachments for rotary mowers in the first place, and this year they're even better. This standard equipment bag clamps on with one hand, and it has a heavy-duty bottom. No zippers to clog, either.

SAFETY SPIN START. You wind up the "impulse" starter, step behind the mower handle, for safety, and push the lever to "start" position. Chokes automatically.

THREE OR 3½ HP. FOUR-CYCLE ENGINE. Starts easily, runs smoother than cheap 2-cycle engines. No mixing of gas and oil.

MAGNESIUM HOUSING. The lighter-than-aluminum stuff they use in airplanes.

AUTO-OILER. A visual oil filler. Push the button and you're sure the crankcase is full. No plug, no funnels, no oily fingers.

CLEAN-OUT PORT. When you're through mowing, let the engine idle and run a little water into the clean-out port. The blade splashes it all around under the housing and washes it out like new.

TRIMIT. You know that grass along the sidewalk that won't stand up? This little device props it up so the blade can clip it off crisply.

WIND-TUNNEL® HOUSING. TORO's "S" shaped cutting blade actually creates a powerful suction under the housing. It pulls grass up for a more even cut, "vacuums" leaves, too.

Hawk Missile Progress Helps Raytheon Profits

Continued progress in the Hawk missile system during 1965 helped Raytheon Co. achieve a 30 percent increase in earnings for the second year in a row.

The company's annual report, now being received by 25,000 Raytheon stockholders, describes "new vitality given to the Hawk program as a result of foreign sales, Vietnam, and continuing development work."

Raytheon was funded during the year, Harry A. Loebel, Andover plant manager, pointed out, for continued development of the improved Hawk and the self-propelled Hawk systems.

Also cited in the report was receipt of a letter of intent from the Saudi Arabian government to purchase more than $100 million worth of Hawk systems and related equipment and services, in accordance with U. S. government policy.

In the letter to stockholders, Raytheon Chairman Charles F. Adams and President Thomas L. Phillips outlined 1965 company highlights as: increased diversification, higher profits and significant growth.

Raytheon's profits increased more than 30 percent over prior year. Sales for 1965 were $488 million, a 7 percent increase over 1964.

Increased commercial business altered the company's proportion of government business from 75 percent, despite high government sales. The backlog of government orders was $265 million at year end, an increase from $240 million the preceding year.

During 1965, Raytheon further diversified its business by acquiring three educational companies: Edex Corp. of Mountain View, Calif.; Macalaster Scientific Corp. of Watertown, Mass.; and Bell Corp. of Michigan City, Ind. In addition, it has reached agreement to acquire D. C. Heath & Co., publishers of educational textbooks.

These acquisitions, plus the Amana Refrigeration Inc., Ames, Iowa, moved Raytheon strongly into two commercial growth markets new to the company — the educational market and the consumer appliance market.

The annual report also described among the most important orders received during 1965, a prime contract from the U. S. Air Force for the first weapons development testing instrumentation system and a development contract from the U. S. Navy for Poseidon missile guidance electronics.

The Nike-X anti-missile system is described as a development program of great strategic importance to the United States defense in the years ahead.

HS Gymnasts Win Medals

Four members of the Championship Andover High School Girls' Gym Team won medals at the Massachusetts Invitational Individual State Gymnastics Meet held Saturday at Cathedral High School, Springfield.

Karen Stewart won second place in the all-around events competition. She competed in four events, finishing second to Patty Corrigan of Weymouth who is considered one of the top ten AAU gymnasts in the country.

Gymnast Stewart, who will compete in a Connecticut-Maine-Massachusetts meet later this season, also won medals for balance beam and uneven parallel bar events.

Other Andover girls took medals as follows: Heather Buchan, tied for fourth in the balance beam event; Diane Chalifour, second in tumbling; and Linda Seikunas, second in trampoline and balance beam events.

Each citizen of the United States now pays $65 per year for air pollution while its cure would cost only 40 cents per person.

CONTRACTOR E. H. PORTER will begin work today for construction of the new senior high school which is to be located on an expansion of the present high school campus on Shawsheen Road. Porter is contracted to complete the building by August 1, 1967.

Secondary School Billed As Bargain

(A Townsman News Feature)
Taxpayers accepted their fate gracefully last week, voting the $700,000 supplemental appropriation officials told them was necessary for construction of what they had expected would be a $3.9 million senior high school.

But nevertheless, they continue to ask "Why?"

Experts are found on every corner and in every coffee shop who maintain that they know of schools for 1,200 built for $2 million or $2.5 million etc. etc. Why, then is Andover building such a costly school?

For the arm chair critics, Manager Richard Bowen has just one reply: "Tell me what is in the school you are talking about. Then, and only then, will we be ready to compare square foot costs."

Both the manager and the School Building Committee are careful to make this point because upon it hinges their contention that Andover is going to get a lot for its $4.6 million. And it is going to get a lot, they say, because much of the school that is to be built has been designed to accommodate the 1,800 students who make up the anticipated enrollment of 1972 or so.

Contract Let

The general construction contract for the new high school was awarded Thursday to E. H. Porter Construction Co., the low bidder at $3,839,735.

Porter will begin work at the Shawsheen Road site today. He is contracted to complete the building by August 1, 1967.

April 30 is tentatively set as the date for the laying of the cornerstone. Meanwhile, Mo-Del Landscapers are proceeding with the seeding and loaming of the area outside that portion of the campus to be affected by the construction. A contract was signed last week with Warren Brothers of Brockton for finish grading, curbing and paving.

The initial site preparation contract, for rough grading etc., was awarded to George Brox and that work is completed.

"The most important reason for planning in this manner," declares the building committee, "was to make construction of an addition as simple as possible and to interfere as little as possible with the educational program while (an addition is) being built."

It is also a reasonable plan, says the committee, because it further takes into account the fact that "the state will not participate in any alterations to an existing building when an addition is built. This means that Andover will elect the usual 40 percent state aid for school construction on what puts up now. It can even be 40 percent reimbursement when undertakes later construction of additional classroom wing and auditorium. But state aid will help cover the expense of day expansions to such facilities as a cafeteria, library and trial arts quarters.

This growing space is designed into the industrial arts area, cafeteria, the area allocated music instruction, the library, the home economics department and when an auditorium is built, the music department will be shifted into lower level space, freeing room in the body of the high school for use.

In addition, business education and physical education facilities are now laid out to accommodate 1,500.

Elsewhere through the building some extra teaching stations also provided: one each language, social studies, science. In addition, reports committee, special rooms will be available where top students work on science projects or advanced studies.

All this, says the committee, explains why there are additional costs now - and why it will be possible to have a complete school for 1,800 students with the addition of nothing more than an auditorium, basic classrooms and a physical education supplement.

Facilities Preview
What, specifically, will be incorporated in the new building, all, a total of 86 teaching stations.

Department by department, here is the breakdown:

Industrial arts - metal shop, woodworking shop, electronics shop, mechanical drawing room and a planning room.

Music - choral room, band room and four practice rooms. Mathematics - five regular classrooms, and one double classroom with movable partition.

Social Studies - three regular classrooms, one double classroom with movable partition and study room.

Pike Reports Summer Plans

Pike School will expand its summer session by making available places for as many as eighty boys and girls for the period from June 27 through August 5.

The school offers two separately administered sessions. The summer program for Young Explorers, children from the ages of almost four through seven, will offer placement to as many as fifty boys and girls. The purpose of this session is to introduce younger children to a study of nature and to afford them an opportunity for independent self-expression through the creative arts.

Mrs. Richard Hornidge will direct this phase of the school's summer program, assisted by Mrs. J. Allyn Bradford and Mrs. Alan K. Porter.

Trips to special places both on the school's acreage and a weekly trip to places of special interest away from the school grounds will be offered to the explorers and for the six and seven year olds there will be some organized games and creative arts.

The summer tutorial, which has been a feature of the school's summer program for some years, will be offered for the benefit of students who have completed grades four through nine. The purpose of the program for older boys and girls is to provide them with summer academic opportunities either to strengthen themselves in various aspects of their school work or to provide them with enrichment opportunities.

Lawrence E. Tuttle, a member of the staff of the Brooks School in North Andover, will serve as director of the tutorial program. Academic offerings are diverse including developmental reading, algebra, French, English and typing. Tuttle will be assisted by Mrs. John Alden, Mrs. Karl Haartz and Mrs. Richard Beger.

Inquiries concerning details may be made at the office of the school.

Art - one room for arts and crafts and one art room.

Home Economics - one foods room, one living center room and one clothing room.

In addition, there are offices for department heads and conference rooms attached to most instructional areas.

And here is what is incorporated in plans for other areas of the building:

Museum Offers Lawrence Tour

Walking tours of the Old Mill District in Lawrence will be conducted again this spring by the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum.

Thomas W. Leavitt, director, said last year's tours showed that many people are interested in viewing the architectural remains of the nineteenth-century mill town which became the Worst Capital of the World.

Beginning at the corner of Essex and Union Streets, in front of the Essex Co. office, the tour includes several mills and the North Canal, as well as early schools, stores, churches and homes.

This year's tours will be given by appointment only, for groups of five or more persons. Those interested may call or write to the Museum in North Andover.

The trouble with a dollar nowadays is that it gets subtracted from, not added to — divided and not multiplied.

Dose

When a doctor writes a prescription, he specifies the "dose," meaning the quantity of medicine to be taken at specified intervals.

The original meaning of the Greek term dosis is simply "giving." It refers to the actual transfer of medicine from physician to patient.

Later on, the word "dose" was used to indicate the drug to be administered, rather than the process of giving this medicine.

Needed: A Philosophy

Individual Americans need to do some deep thinking about just what philosophy should underlie the United States government's approach to the inauguration and administration of programs which make states, communities and individuals the beneficiaries of federal munificence.

Otherwise we are all apt to be swept along, increasingly, by the same bureaucratic tide that carried the School Committee into a quick decision about what its position should be on the subject of proposed cuts in the milk and school lunch subsidy programs.

At the request of the superintendent, the committee voted (4-1) to protest President Johnson's plans for curtailing milk and lunch reimbursement budgets preparatory to the enacting of a new law which would distribute some such aid on the basis of need.

We are not quarreling with the vote. On the face of it, these two programs seem among the more broadly beneficial to come from Washington.

But we do question the climate in which the vote was taken. The committee was supplied with persuasive statistics from state school lunch officials to demonstrate what the proposed cutback could mean, financially, to the school systems of the Commonwealth.

As a further argument in support of the status quo, school lunch administrators objected, in printed matter, to the possible substitution of a welfare program for one which now sees to the nutritional needs of the neglected and undernourished (not all of whom come from low income homes, apparently) while giving simultaneous attention to subliminal instruction in nutrition. (Whatever else can be said by critics of the cuisine, the meals are well balanced.)

Is this a valid argument? What are we defending? Is the school lunch program primarily intended as a cure for national nutritional ills, as a method of indirect education of those who will be responsible for feeding the next generation, or a partial solution to the agricultural surplus dilemma. . . .

Only if we know what the goals of the program were and are, only if we know to what extent these goals have been realized can we possibly be prepared to determine whether there is any further need for a school lunch program of the subsidized sort now available to hundreds of thousands of American youngsters.

Underlying it all is the need for a grassroots federal aid philosophy.

Should we as individuals take the black and white position that federal aid is strictly for those who cannot pay for what they want or need? Or are the prosperous justified in feeling that they too should not refuse to benefit from programs they are obliged to support?

What about some community guide lines?

Should Andover's town fathers formulate a policy that would lay down some standards for determining just what sort of federal aid Andover should feel free to solicit and what sort it should feel it cannot, in all honesty, accept?

With opportunities for grants in aid, loans and such proliferating, it is time now for the public to formulate an attitude — and make it known.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the Townsman:
The West School PTA committee wishes to extend hearty thanks to you for your excellent assistance in publicizing our recent auction which was held in the school gym on March 25.

We should also like to thank Miss Isabelle Dobbie, school principal, teachers, room mothers, parents, children and all who worked so hard to make the auction so successful.

The $700 raised at the auction will provide needed equipment for West School pupils.

Mrs. Charles Becker
Publicity Chairman
25 E. Lincoln Cir.

To the Editor of the Townsman:
We citizens of the United States, who are paying for the war in Vietnam, deserve to know what we are buying. We may not be aware of the indiscriminate mass torture planned by our military leaders and paid for by us. A publication of the American Chemical Society informs us that an Air Force contract has just been awarded to supply 100 million pounds of new napalm, called napalm-B, within a year. Napalm-B sticks better while it burns, whereas the soap-jellied gasoline formulation of World War II leaves much to be desired. This procurement is the third, and largest, in the past eighteen months. Predictions for the future are running as high as 50 million pounds of napalm-B a month. In the closing paragraph, the news article states, "The Air Force has clamped a tight security lid on the napalm-B program, chiefly because of fear of picketing of government and contractor facilities by antiwar demonstrators."

Even if there are no future contracts, this last contract will allow us to drop 137 tons of napalm-B a day on Viet-Nam, for a year. If the predictions are fulfilled, we shall be able to increase this figure to 830 tons a day, month after month. In a war such as this one, the bombs will be dropped on villages, no matter who is occupying them. The luckier victims will die instantly. Less fortunate will be those who linger on for a few terrible hours or days before their suffering is ended. The survivors of this program of mass slaughter will bear horrible scars for all to see. Most of these people will be innocent people who merely want their own land and want to be left alone. They have not invaded a foreign country to wage a war.

But we shall pour fire, and more fire, on them. We shall burn them alive, deaf to their screams as our burning napalm sticks to them in a way that no longer leaves much to be desired. The responsibility is ours, and we can not evade it.
Thomas Rees
157 Main St.

To the Editor of the Townsman:
When a town doubles in population in a 10-year period and the 32 sq. miles which contain this Topsy-like surge of humanity remains constant, an interrelated complexity of "growing pains" evolves.

By choice, we are one family that has settled in Andover within the past ten years. There are many others like us who feel the sense of responsibility to make an honest effort to understand the nature of these growing pains.

Once this self-enlightenment process has begun, the next step comes naturally. Individually, each of us can find ways by which we can constructively contribute some of our time, some of our energies, and some of our varied abilities to help alleviate those problems, we have helped to create.

Barbara Spiegel

To the Editor of the Townsman
(Copy of a letter sent to Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson)

It is with interest that I have read of Andover's Teacher Evaluation Program. There seems, however, to be one area of neglect. The opinions of parents should certainly be of value and should, I would think, have an important role to play in any true evaluation procedure. Parents are all too vocal in their complaints and, perhaps, you feel able to assume that those teachers who cause no complaints are doing a good job. While this is very possibly true it does not reveal those teachers who have exceptional qualities, who give that extra bit and who instill in a child a real thirst for knowledge.

My children have been exposed to three teachers, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Runyon and Mrs. Cromie at Central School. All three have those qualities which, I feel, distinguishes a good teacher from an exceptional one.

Since Mrs. Cromie is a substitute teacher you are, perhaps, more aware of the esteem which she receives from, not only the parents of Andover, but also her fellow teachers. Despite her lack of formal training she ranks with the most superior of teachers. As a former teacher myself, I can only hope that somehow thru this evaluation program you can find a way to place such teachers on a permanent status. Courses in education cannot make a gifted teacher, they can only provide guidelines. Sometimes we tend to forget this and consequently lose those best suited to be entrusted with our children's minds.

No teacher worthy of the title need fear an evaluation program or even discontinuation of tenure, provided such evaluation is truly worthy of its name.

Thank you for your attention.
Mrs. Whitman G. Stephens
13 Summer St.

To the Editor of the Townsman:
I read with interest the letter of Mr. Wilson R. Neisser, concerning our recent town meeting. He mentions his shock at attending his first town meeting and describes it as an "amazing phenomenon". I think this description is excellent and fits my own reaction on attending my first "good old open New England town meeting" — however, for different reasons.

Town meetings per se were not a new experience as I had served two three-year terms as an elected Town Meeting member in a suburban Boston community. Representative Town Meeting is apparently an unpopular term in Andover. However, from my own observations of the meetings March 12 and March 21, I cannot understand why. Inasmuch as many people in the town do not understand what the representative town meeting is, I should like to set down some contrasts and comments which I hope might stir some debate on the subject.

First, I think size is a very important factor. In the two meetings which I attended in the last two weeks, the percentage

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — March, 1891

The ground at the Tye Rubber Co.'s works is being rapidly cleared in preparation for their new building to be begun soon. Findley's fish market is to be moved up Main St. and located next to the Public market. The house is to be moved close to the line near Pearson St. and the office building and stable are to be sold at auction Saturday. During the repairs, the company will occupy the house for an office.

Work will be begun at once on the raising and enlarging of the brick building in the rear of Draper's block. For some time Andover Press has been sadly in need of larger and more convenient quarters, and Mr. Draper is to put the brick building into first class condition to answer this demand.

J. S. Dearborn is painting and staining the interior of the new parsonage in Ballardvale.

The house of Joshua was broken into last week and an overcoat and other articles taken. Probably tramps.

Two girls appeared at the home of John Porter Thursday morning.

50 Years Ago — March, 1916

Percy Crosby of Maple Avenue has gone to work for J. H. Campion & Co.

George Donovan and Kenneth Pike of this town have been chosen to represent the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the relay team. Both attended Phillips Academy.

Miss Ada Matthews of Ballardvale was awarded scholarship honors at Wellesley College this week. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews of Ballardvale and a graduate of the local grammar and high schools.

Scientists of the Paris medical college have found by a series of experiments that, as physiologists have long asserted, tobacco smoke has an injurious effect on the heart, but that this effect is not dependent on the amount of nicotine contained in the tobacco; in fact, smoke from the combustion of materials other than tobacco appeared to be about as harmful.

Miss Mary Ballard observed her 85th birthday on Thursday last week. Many of her friends called to offer their congratulations.

Alex Black Jr. of Beverly reof turnout was 8% of the registered voters at one and about 6% at the second. In Milton I doubt whether attendance of elected representatives fell much below 85% (a record was kept of those in attendance and absentees were listed in the Town Report). I also believe that Andover with more than 10,000 registered voters is playing with fire by sticking with the "open" system. What would happen if an issue came up that was so "hot" that 75% of the electorate turned out? Where would they go?

Secondly, a representative meeting could generally finish a 65-article warrant on one Saturday afternoon. A quorum was always present, and the meeting started precisely on time. Contrast this with Andover's recent town meeting when we had to wait 28 minutes before a quorum was present.

Thirdly, the discussion on the articles was the responsibility of the chairman of the warrant committee, who was not a town employee. (It seemed to me as if the Andover committee and its chairman were under a pledge of silence while the town manager did the talking).

I have heard it said that the closed town meeting denies the right of the non-member to speak. In my experience, I never witnessed a refusal of a request by a town resident to speak. It has also been suggested that town employees could get control by running for these offices. While this is a valid concern, I also feel that it is an insult to an informed electorate. What would have happened at the Saturday town meeting if all the Town employees had marched as a body to the meeting and had provided a quorum promptly at 9:30 a.m.?

Another comment I frequently hear is "look what happened in Methuen". My retort here is look at Brookline, Wellesley, Needham, Milton, Natick and other suburban newed acquaintances in the village this weekend.

25 Years Ago — March, 1941

This morning the Army Air Corps service got itself a flyer and the Townsman lost a photographer. For Donald Surette, whose photographic work has appeared in the Townsman for the past two and a half years and who has been responsible for most of the Townsman covers, has entered the service of Uncle Sam.

Ovagen Sarkisian, Chandler Rd., is one of the market gardeners who have been accepted by the Boston Market Gardeners Assn. from Essex County.

Herve Croteau of West Andover will work with Roger Lewis to fulfill the requirements of the course in agriculture at the Essex County Agricultural School.

Punchard's brightest: Barbara Pullen, valedictorian; Lucille Nolet, salutatorian; Glenn Markert, first honor essayist and Barbara Cashman, second honor essayist.

A petition is being circulated in Andover on behalf of the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies in an effort to have Great Britain release her blockade sufficiently to allow the 37 million people in the small hapless democracies to eat. Rev. Donald H. Savage of the West Church is serving as the local chairman.

10 Years Ago — March, 1956

Allen Flye was elected chairman of the board of public works March 21, but not before two board members sharply criticized former Chairman Sidney P. White and the methods used in temporarily electing Mr. Flye prior to town meeting. At that time Mr. White stepped down as chairman for the express purpose of allowing another board member to take over for town meeting. Mr. Flye was elected at that time, served through town meeting and then suggested that the board should organize anew for the year. Member P. Leroy Wilson accused Mr. White of "running a one-man board" and "pulling a dirty, rotten trick."

Controlled building — via rationed building permits — gains adherents this week. And Planning Board Chairman Lee Noyes, whose idea it was, said he believes some type of permit rationing will eventually be approved by the selectmen.

towns where representative town meetings have long been the answer to exploding populations. Three hundred Town Meeting Members elected by precincts would provide much more representative opinion than 800 residents who largely might come from only one or two districts.

Again I reiterate, we are playing with fire for a town as fine as Andover cannot continue to live in the past in its structure of government. We have some very dedicated people and should have no war about a representative body to determine our future. Let's bring this issue out for debate.

Book Awards

Four American authors were cited this spring for "best" books written during 1965. The award committee of distinguished specialists chose Katherine Anne Porter for her COLLECTED SHORT STORIES; Janet Flanner (Gonet of the New Yorker column) for PARIS JOURNAL 1944-1965; James Dickey for his book of poems, BUCKDANCER'S CHOICE; and Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. for A THOUSAND DAYS.

A surprise this year was the decision of the judges for the fields of science, philosophy and religion to withhold the prize. However, they commended Frankel — THE LOVE ANXIETY; Friedenberg — COMING OF AGE IN AMERICA; Glass — SCIENCE AND ETHICAL VALUES.

The fiction judges also considered AT PLAY IN THE FIELDS OF THE LORD — Matthiessen; THE (DIBLOS) NOTEBOOK — Merrill; EVERYTHING THAT RISES MUST CONVERGE — Flannery O'Connor; THE LIBERATION OF LORD BYRON JONES — Ford; and PERICLES ON 31st STREET — Petrakis. If you do not find the book you want on the "browsing shelf" in the main reading room, feel free to ask for a reservation card at the desk. You fill in the card with the name of the book you want, address it to yourself. When the book becomes available, the card will be mailed to you and the book held a few days to give you a chance to come to the library for it.

The Topic Is Wool

The recent gift of some bright red wool spun on a hand jack 100 years old has been of interest to the Littlest Listeners of Ballardvale. Mrs. Martha MacCausland programmed her story hour for the Red Yarns and the Blue Yarns and set up an exhibit introducing the idea of wool manufacture with pictures and nursery rhymes. Now the spinner of the wool has contributed some blue yarn spun on the latest ring spinning frame. The donor is Joseph Igo, who is associated with Davis & Furber. Week-ends he demonstrates spinning techniques at the Textile Museum in North Andover.

Film Program
At 4 p.m. on April 7 the final film program of the current season will be shown in the community room over the Ballardvale branch library. Boys and girls of school age are invited to view an adaptation of HOMER PRICE by Robert McCloskey, writer of prize-winning children's books. The movie is "The Doughnuts". Also on the program, "Squeaky the Squirrel".

Staff Vacations
On vacation this week have been Mrs. Ross Eldridge of the children's room and Mrs. K. C. Vint, assistant librarian.

Among New Titles
A first novel and two others seem to those on the staff who have read them to be headed for substantial popularity. The three: THE BEGINNERS by Dan Jacobson which is a contemporary family novel set in Israel, London and South America; FAIR GAME by Diane Johnson, a slight plot set in California which is funny and THE BUSY BODY of D. E. Westlake who tells the hilarious adventures of mobsters and a corpse in a wild sequence reminding one of Damon Runyon stories of mobsters.

Richard Pratt gives us HOUSES, HISTORY, AND PEOPLE and ranges from Colonial to modern times and here and there in 38 states. He has included not alone houses, but some churches and fortifications. Good armchair travel. Neville Braybrooke has a biography of Teilhard de Chardin: pilgrim of the future, MUSIC IN THE MEDIEVAL WORLD by Seay who is a professor of music at Colorado College relates music to the thought of the times. Covered is the period from early Christian times to about 1400. "An attractive introduction for the serious layman."

Pick up either Volkswagen in Europe.

If you have a driving ambition to see Europe, the cheapest way to do the driving is in your own VW. And picking it up in Europe is the cheapest way to buy one.

You can get a genuine beetle in more than fifty cities in twelve countries.

And, if you want a VW with a little more room and a little more power, spend a little more money and get our Squareback Sedan. (It's just as genuine, but not so beetle-ish.)

We'll attend to the details of purchase, delivery, insurance and licensing. And if the car needs servicing after you ship it home, we'll attend to that, too.

If you think that's a lot to ask of a total stranger, come in and get to know us.

TV Appearance Scheduled

Reynolds Monach, 14, an eighth grade student at St. Augustine's School, will appear April 9 on a Science Countdown television show at 4 p.m. on Channel 4, Boston.

The Andover student is one of 40 selected from some 36,000 contestants in the Lowell Tech

Science Countdown competition for participation in a series of science oriented television shows.

Young Monach, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Monach, 4 Applecrest Rd., represented St. Augustine's at Lowell Tech because of his high score on a general science quiz. Competitors were then given a written examination by the Lowell institute.

For the television show, the eighth grader will work on a chemistry experiment, participate in some math experiments, respond to a number of questions about the various scientific fields and join in a general discussion of a scientific topic.

Loan News Available

Veterans with more than 180 days of active military duty discharged from the service since January 31, 1955, have at least until March 3, 1976 to complete a GI home or farm loan under the new GI Bill, the Veterans Administration pointed out today.

The new law, bringing to veterans of the post-Korean period GI loan privileges hitherto available only to veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict, carries its own minimum deadline of ten years after the actual signing of the bill on March 3, 1966.

A maximum eligibility date of twenty years after discharge from the qualifying active service is also in the law. Veterans discharged because of service-connected disabilities will have the maximum 20-year entitlement.

Between those minimum and maximum periods, individual veterans will reach the termination of their eligibility according to the following formula:

Add ten years to the date of the last discharge from active service plus one year for each three-month period of that service.

The veteran must hold a discharge other than dishonorable. If released because of a service-connected disability, the service time may be less than the stipulated 180-plus days period.

The new law also benefits servicemen who remain on active duty after completing at least two years of service. They may obtain VA-guaranteed loans while still in the armed forces.

Certificates of eligibility or additional information may be secured by Massachusetts veterans from the VA office, One Beacon Street, Boston.

The friends you may have to be paid a regular salary if you expect to keep them.

Tour de force . . . .

In homes where formal entertaining is the custom, a "drawing room" aura can be created in the living room. With opulent draperies. A magnificent sofa embellished with carved finials, couturiere-styled flounce, and covered in a rich velvet from Henredon's almost endless selection of fabrics. Add chairs in damask with the hand-tufting that's a mark of great elegance - and of the upholsterer's skill. There's only one store that can do it all - design it, furnish it and top it all off with a perfect drapery installation (all within your means, too!). We are that store.

Zollner, Domingue Put On Zoning Board

Atty. Robert S. Zollner, 249 Highland Rd., was named to the Zoning Board of Appeals by the selectmen this week, and Robert Domingue, 51 Walnut Ave., was made an associate member of the same board.

The two men were approved in a 3-2 vote with members Roger Collins and Philip K. Allen supporting reappointment of Augustine P. Sheehy and Raymond LaRosa.

Zollner, who was nominated by Selectman Sidney P. White, served on the appeals board prior to adoption of the town manager form of government, and afterward, He was relieved of membership by a previous board of selectmen because he was then chairman of the time-consuming bylaw revision committee. The work of that group, now completed, was approved by the 1966 Town Meeting. The attorney is with the Boston firm of Warner Stackpole Stetson & Bradlee.

Selectman Roger Collins spoke for the reappointment of Sheehy who has held full-membership on the board since October, 1965. Sheehy, president and treasurer of Home Transport Corp., was first appointed to the appeals board as an associate member in May, 1964. He was advanced to full membership to fill the unexpired term of the late Edmond E. Hammond.

Noting that Sheehy is a successful businessman, Collins said the trucker "is as qualified as anyone." Selectman Allen added that he was supporting the incumbent, but did not wish this to be considered a vote against Mr. Zollner.

In the discussion over the appointment of Domingue, who was nominated by Selectman Robert A. Watters, Allen commended Raymond LaRosa for the service he has given since his appointment in June of last year to fill the unexpired term of Harris Sanfilippo. LaRosa, a former Andover firefighter, is a consultant to the Area One Civil Defense director on firefighting and CD procedure.

Collins also supported reappointment of LaRosa, stating that he knew nothing about Domingue, a foreman for Converse Rubber Co. in Lawrence and an official of St. Matthews' Lodge, AF&AM.

There was no controversy over the remaining two appointments of the board. Harry Sellars was reappointed to the board of registrars by a unanimous vote, and the earlier appointment of Town Accountant Wendall Mattheson reaffirmed.

Approved in full was the list of incumbents reappointed by the town manager to boards and committees for which he is responsible.

Still to come are the manager's appointments for seats on the Planning Board, library trustees, the industrial development commission and the planning advisory commission.

Bowen is giving also further consideration to appointment of a dog officer and a deputy game warden. He is checking into the possibility of appointing a police patrolman to the dog officer's post, providing it proves to be a practical solution and a police officer can be found who would take the assignment in addition to his regular police duties. The present dog officer, William Mosher, receives $600 for the part-time job.

Reappointed to other posts were: Patriotic holiday committee - Benjamin Brown, American Legion; Elmer S. Ober, veterans service agent; Cecil W. Garrod, VFW; and Fred Shone Jr., DAV.

Regional Merrimack River Pollution Planning Committee - Selectman Robert A. Watters and Manager Richard Bowen.

Constables - Benjamin C. Brown and Thomas P. Eldred; Towle Trust Fund - Mrs. Louis Anderson; keeper of the lockup - Police Chief David L. Nicoll; deputy tree warden - Philip A. Busby.

Senior High School Building Committee - Mrs. Dudley Fitts, C. Lincoln Giles, Frederick A. Higgins, Robert McIntyre, William E. Moriarty and Walter N. Webster. Since the basic work of the committee is completed, Bowen did not fill the vacancy created by the departure of Benjamin Chase on assignment for Raytheon Co. in Saudi Arabia.

Planning Advisory committee - James G. Poor and Timothy Scanlon; and game warden, Forrest Noyes Jr.

Inspector Surprises West Andover Intruder

Building Inspector Arthur Peatman looked through a first floor window at his son Glenn's River Road house Monday and straight into the eyes of a would-be burglar. The men were just a few feet from one another.

The intruder fled, with Peatman giving chase, and joined another man for a getaway in a pink Rambler sedan which was parked a short distance from the house. Within minutes, police in neighboring communities were alerted to be on the lookout for the escape car, but the burglars were not apprehended.

Apparently nothing was taken in the break, though household articles were found stacked ready for removal.

Police report that the building inspector had stopped at the house to inspect a broken cellar window, checking the property for his son who is on assignment in Germany with Raytheon Co. The residence is sublet to Roswell G. Eldridge who was out of town at the time of the break.

Peatman described the man as about 35 years of age, 5'11" tall and somewhat dark. He wore a soft hat and a long top coat, Peatman said.

There was another housebreak at the same address last fall, according to police.
